

THE LIFELINE

FEBRUARY 2017

Step Two:

“Came to believe that a Power greater than ourselves could restore us to sanity.”

My first recollection of Step Two was while sitting in an AA meeting in the basement of a church reviewing the large print of the 12 steps on the wall in front of me. To me this was like any other task list to accomplish, to do, get done and have it behind me. When I read Step Two all I saw was the word “insanity”. I thought well I’ve never been insane so why would I need to be “restored” to sanity. So I could skip that STEP and move on.

Decades later when I review this step I realize that much of the time I am still insane. Today I equate sanity with maturity. I believe that the 12 steps have given us are our guide to “growing up”, or “maturing”. Maturity is not gained with time, it is gained through hard work, self-assessment and a commitment to a continued self-review, trusted feedback and positive change. All tools within the twelve steps.

From Your Chair... February 2017

I love the committee process, which wasn’t always the case. When I was three years sober the Salt Lake area was just putting together its corrections committee and a friend of mine convinced me that they couldn’t do it without me. After a great deal of persuasion I finally agreed to attend their meetings. All I saw was a bunch of alcoholic egos snarling and snapping at each other. After attending a couple of those meetings I told my friend that I felt like I was going to drink if I kept going. So for the next 17 years I did my service work in my home group.

Then in 2002 I heard that the Area had approved the development of an Area website. That’s the kind of work I did for a living so I made my way down to St. George where they were holding the Pre-Conference Assembly and I was selected as the first Area Webservant under the Public Information committee. It was at that assembly that I fell in love with the committee process. At that roundtable I literally saw God’s

PAMPHLET OF THE MONTH:

Many of us came to rely on a “Higher Power,” whether it was the collective power of A.A., the A.A. group itself, or some other entity, concept or being that helped us to stay sober. “My sponsor encouraged me to choose my own conception of a higher power. It didn’t need a gender, or a name, or any human attributes — it just had to be ‘a power greater than myself.’ It was then that I realized that the Fellowship, though comprised of human beings, represented a power greater than anything human. Even more surprisingly, by taking the Steps in my own clumsy way, supported by the unconditional love of my fellow alcoholics, I had discovered a quiet, inner voice — a God within.” There were many other ideas and approaches, too, that helped us move forward in staying sober and understanding how the A.A. program could work best for us.

Help the Lifeline!

Get involved!

Be a part of Central Office!

We need Articles: Lifeline needs stories of all kinds from our fellowship. A variety of topics can be submitted including a personal story of recovery, a favorite step or tradition, what service has done for your sobriety, on being a sponsor, on being a sponsee, getting your family back, traveling in sobriety, your home group, etc.

We need a Chairperson: Experience with publishing is helpful, but not required. As long as you are confident learning new programs, you will be fine. There is a two year sobriety requirement, and here is the description from the by-laws:

“The Newsletter Committee creates and distributes a monthly newsletter containing information such as, calendar of events, group news, member’s writings, Central Office financial information, Board of Trustees and CO Committee meeting minutes and other information relevant to the members and groups served by Central Office.”

Interested?

Email any articles or content to lifeline@saltlakeaa.org by the 15th of the month. If you are interested in chairing the Lifeline committee contact a member of the board for more information at board@saltlakeaa.org.

I am responsible. When anyone anywhere, reaches out for help, I want the hand of AA always to be there. And for that; I am responsible.

is Powerful – if You Let It In!

My journey in Alcoholics Anonymous started in February 2005. And like most of us, I was fairly beaten up when I arrived at AA's doorstep. I was hopeless, helpless and by most other peoples account - heartless. My world had become very "small" since I had pushed everyone who cared about me away and I was hiding from everyone else. I had gotten to a point where life was unbearable and consequences of drinking were compounding daily. My job and family were way too much for me to handle and I was to a point where death by ingestions (via alcohol or its various forms) seemed likely and preferable.

An intervention from my place of work was the culminating event from years of active alcoholism. And while this event appeared at the time as the worst possible day of my life, I have subsequently come to realize this was the most blessed event in my life. This was the outset of a spectacular (and sometimes not so spectacular) spiritual journey that seems to continue to advance as long as my willingness and open-mindedness continues to broaden.

I should mention, as to not paint an inaccurate picture of my sobriety path, that while the AA promises (pages 83-84 of the Big Book) have come true for this Alcoholic, I had to learn the hard way about half measures. My progression from calamity to glimpses of serenity was by no means a linear path. In fact, it was very fragmented and there were stretches where it felt as if I was moving backward. But when you are riddled with self-centered fear, the idea of doing things the AA way seems absurd and quite unreasonable. Therefore, left to my own thinking, I did not succumb to the concepts of surrender, acceptance and turning it over very efficiently. My early days in AA consisted of going to meetings daily, however I was not willing to get a sponsor and work the steps. I refused to accept the premise that I had to do the AA program as outlined in the book. It was not until the emotional pain got so bad that I knew I was either going to drink or I had to surrender to the fact that I needed to get a sponsor and work the steps. This is where the principle of Hope in all its magnificent forms took over – but only once I let it!

Those early days of sobriety has proven that fears unchecked (or dealt with the same "old way) are powerful enough to block oneself from receiving the gift of hope. Until I truly conceded that I was an alcoholic and that I must do the AA program like every other "recovered" alcoholic it seemed I was hopeless. But once I started to connect with others I began to open the door for hope to take over. It all started with the building of a relationship with my sponsor. It then quickly expanded to friends of my sponsor and his sponsor. Before I knew it, the walls began to fall and I was connecting with people in whole new and exciting way. Not only was I connecting but hope was creeping in and I did not even notice it.

A careful review through my days in AA has revealed some amazing changes in my attitudes, my beliefs and most importantly my actions. My personal pathway of "coming to believe" started with me changing my go it alone attitude. It was apparent that my attitudes were blocking me from receiving the gifts of the program. When I started to show my weakness (the beginning stages of honesty and humility), God began to show his strength through others who had walked the path before me. It was the hope I saw in others that led me to make the decision, and overcome the huge fear, to ask another man to be my sponsor. It was the hope I saw in others that allowed me to start to identify and stop judging. It was the hope I saw in others that permitted me to go from contempt to maybe this can work for me. And finally it was the hope I saw in others that allowed me to transition from:

Hope -> Belief -> Faith

-Jerry F from Park City, UT

A mature person, a sane person, acts with integrity, with thoughtfulness, is well-meaning and unselfish. I have been incredibly blessed in my life to know people who have and continue to act in a mature manner even in the face of all that life can throw at them. Behaving in mature ways brings us and those that surround us happiness, peace and a sense of wellbeing. All the lives we touch are improved when we respond in mature ways.

Insanity is what my sponsor calls Alcoholism, the ISM. It's the lack of integrating the steps into our lives. Many of us have heard the notion that our "maturing" stopped the day we started drinking. I tend to forget that the quitting is only the first half of the first step. There are 11 and 1/2 other steps required if I want to strive for maturity, for sanity.

I don't do this work because it's easy but because it's worth it. It's not painless but this pain is nothing compared to the pain of being one of the real "walking dead". I want the promises to be true in my life all of the time. I want to be "happy, joyous and free all the time. But I'm thrilled when I get some of these things some of the time.

I want my actions to reflect a high level of integrity which has been my life's goal. Since I'm human, much to my disappointment, only on rare occasions do I hit that mark, but on those rare occasions when I do hit that mark I experience an overwhelming feeling of grace. A true sense of love and wellbeing that surpasses anything of this world. I strive to be the person who says what I mean and does as I say. I believe we are great people who do hard things but mostly that we can do great things.

Maturity is defined by having an appropriate response to the events at hand. When I'm acting "immature" Step Two tells me I'm acting insane and only through continued work towards spiritual fitness can I begin to act mature more times than I act immature. If you don't know what an appropriate response is, it's in the book, the BIG BOOK.

My sanity relies on using all of the tools of recovery. All of which are discussed and explained in the first 164 pages in the Big Book of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Read it with someone who cares. Read it with someone you care about.

—Linda B, A Vision For You

It must never be forgotten that the purpose of Alcoholics Anonymous is to sober up alcoholics. There is no religious or spiritual requirement for membership. No demands are made on anyone. An experience is offered which members may accept or reject. That is up to them.

consciousness being expressed. Our leaders truly are trusted servants. No governing. No one is in charge. That same beneficent, loving, caring and all powerful being that restored me to sanity when it came to drinking and living a sober life continues to express itself in the group's conscience. That's one of the reasons it's so important that your group is represented and participates in the committee process.

Bill said it very well in his essay on leadership. "Good leadership originates plans, policies, and ideas for the improvement of our Fellowship and its services. But in new and important matters it will nevertheless consult widely before taking decisions and actions."

And of course I love the definition and contrast between and "elder statesman" and a "bleeding deacon". The elder statesman is one who sees the wisdom of the group's decisions, whose judgment, fortified by considered experience, is sound. The bleeding deacon is one who remains convinced that the group cannot get along without him, who continues to can be consumed with self-pity.

My hope is to continue to become that elder statesman and learn to trust more and more.

Thank you for allowing me to serve!

—Doug R.
