

I am responsible, when anyone, anywhere reaches out for help, I want the hand of AA always to be there... And for that, I am responsible.

Spiritual Experiences

Bill W., Grapevine , July 1962

It is the intention of the Grapevine to carry occasional accounts of spiritual experiences. To this interesting project I would like to say a few introductory words. There is a very natural tendency to set apart those experiences or awakenings which happen to be sudden, spectacular or vision-producing. Therefore any recital of such cases always produces mixed reactions. Some will say, "I wish I could have an experience like that!"

Others, feeling that this whole business is too far out on the mystic limb for them, or maybe hallucinatory after all, will say, "I just can't buy this business. I can't understand what these people are talking about."

As most AAs have heard, I was the recipient in 1934 of a tremendous mystic experience or "illumination." It was accompanied by a sense of intense white light, by a sudden gift of faith in the goodness of God, and by a profound conviction of His presence. At first it was very natural for me to feel that this experience staked me out for somebody very special.

But as I now look back upon this tremendous event, I can only feel very specially grateful. It now seems clear that the only special feature of my experience was its electric suddenness and the overwhelming and immediate conviction that it carried to me.

In all other respects, however, I am sure that my own experience was not in the least different than that received by every AA member who has strenuously practiced our recovery program.

How often do we sit in AA meetings and hear the speaker declare, "But I haven't yet got the spiritual angle."

Letter from the editor

Allow me to introduce myself, my name is Bill W. and I am a very, very grateful alcoholic. For years I told people (mostly myself) that I haven't always been an alcoholic. I had often said I only drank heavily for the last few years. And then, after taking a half-ass inventory of myself said, eh maybe like 10 years. Then, looking even deeper, perhaps I hit hard the last (insert arbitrary number) years. The truth is, I had my first alcoholic drink at around 13 or 14 and while I didn't drink daily until I was in my thirties

I have ALWAYS been an alcoholic. I was always picked on and bullied in school and never fit in anywhere, that is until I found that liquid courage...

MY ROAD TO RECOVERY

I'm 5 months into a ten month sentence at the Utah State Prison. This is my 4th time back in since I first came here back in July of 2017. Before that I had only done county time. The truth is drugs and alcohol have been the driving source in my life for many years. I'm not gonna say that I didn't have any fun, cause that would be a lie. I had a lot of fun for a few years, and had a lot of really cool experiences and met some of the most amazing people! But I'm tired of letting everyone down including myself. The depths of depravity that I have allowed to be my life, are a constant reminder of why I don't ever wanna return to drugs and alcohol.

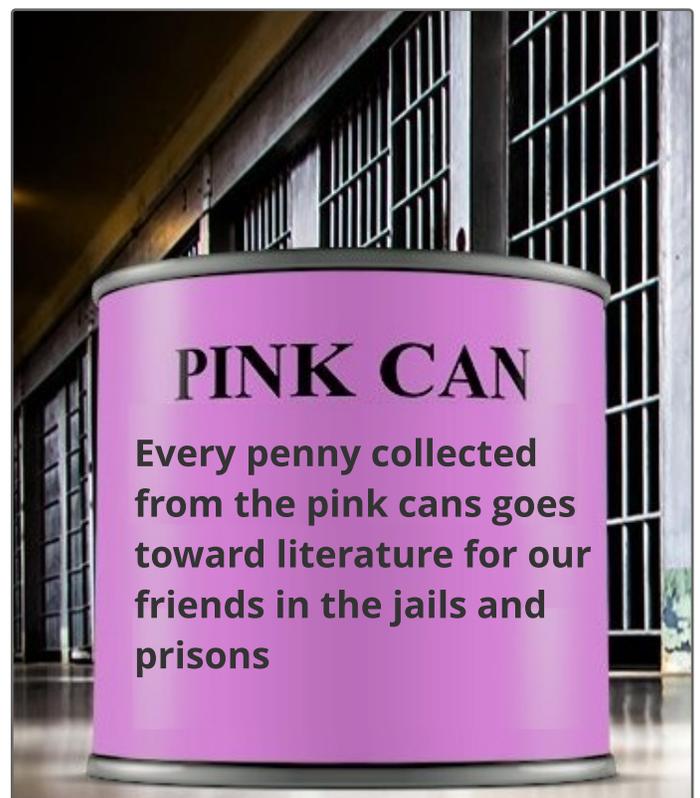

Every time I return to active addiction I reach a whole new bottom, a low I never thought possible. After everything I've been through, I'm lucky to be alive. Back in 2014 I was sprayed with acostic lye, and it destroyed the surface of my left eye. For the past five years I have fought to try and restore my vision, only to be told recently that they can't help me.

Everything bad that has happened to me correlates with using drugs and alcohol. After I was sprayed with acid, my addiction was my means of escape. I didn't know how to live life anymore. It was a dark time. In 2015 I decided to go to detox for probably the 4th or 5th time after being stabbed four times at a trap house. I was sick of living a life full of misery and despair. And the fact that I wasn't a part of my son's life was destroying me inside.

At the hospital after going through the intake process, they told me that I most likely have hep-c, and my liver was distended and swollen. Instead of putting me in the detox part, they kept me in the emergency unit for three weeks. After I was released, I knew I needed treatment, or I would return to drugs, so I went to a dual diagnosis treatment center in Ontario, CA. Thus I started on my long road to recovery.

I was introduced to the rooms of AA in treatment. Ever since then I've been in and out of the rooms, with little bouts of sobriety. And just like it says in the Big Book, always followed by a worse relapse. My whole adult life I've found some success, then I relapse, go to jail, and now prison. I got it into my head that I could just use once, and before you know it, I lost my job, I was shooting meth and heroine. I resorted back to selling drugs, and I'm on the run, with three new felonies.

I never really put a lot of effort into working a program of recovery until just recently. I started working the twelve steps, got a sponsor, and I started building a solid foundation. I'm truly blessed to be where I am. My higher power has placed me in a place where I can transform my life. My relationship with my higher power has never been better, and I'm no longer afraid of tomorrow. I have confidence and love for myself, and others. Today I work a program of recovery daily, I attend meetings daily, and work the twelve steps with a sponsor. -Townsend H.

PAMPHLET OF THE MONTH

"The paradox of A.A. is that financial independence and the support of our Fellowship by alcoholics and alcoholics alone not only enhances A.A.'s importance to each of us, but stimulates our engagement in our own recovery...A.A. is 'our thing,' from our group's treasury to the balance sheets at the General Service Office."

"With the realization that A.A. must steer clear of outside contributions in order to maintain its autonomy and independence came the understanding that the money necessary for A.A.'s survival would have to come from individual A.A. members and groups. As Bill W. put it in 1957, "our spiritual way of life is safe for future generations if, as a Society, we resist the temptation to receive money from the outside world. But this leaves us with a responsibility - one that every member ought to understand. We cannot skimp when the treasurer of our group passes the hat. Our groups, our areas, and A.A. as a whole will not function unless our services are sufficient and their bills are paid."

Hope to see you there!

Prior to this statement, he had described a miracle of transformation which had occurred in him -- not only his release from alcohol, but a complete change in his whole attitude toward life and the living of it. It is apparent to nearly everyone else present that he has received a great gift; and that this gift was all out of proportion to anything that might be expected from simple AA activity, such as the admission of alcoholism and the practice of Step Twelve. So we in the audience smile and say to ourselves, "Well, that guy is just reeking with the spiritual angle -- except that he doesn't seem to know it yet!" We well know that this questioning individual will tell us six months or a year hence that he has found faith in God.

Moreover he may by then be displaying "spiritual qualities" and a performance that I myself have never been able to duplicate -- my sudden spiritual experience notwithstanding.

So nowadays when AAs come to me, hoping to find out how one comes by those sudden experiences, I simply tell them in all probability that they have had one just as good -- and that theirs is identical excepting it has been strung out over a longer period of time.

Then I go on to say that if their transformation in AA extending over six months had been condensed into six minutes -- well, they then might have seen the stars too!

In consequence of these observations I fail to see any great difference between the sudden experiences and the more gradual ones -- they are certainly all of the same piece. And there is one sure test of them all: "By their fruits, ye shall know them."

This is why I think we should question no one's transformation -- whether it be sudden or gradual. Nor should we demand anyone's special type for ourselves, because our own experience suggests that we are apt to receive whatever may be the most useful for our needs.

JOKE OF THE MONTH

A man wanted Valentine's Day to be special, so he bought a bottle of absinthe and stopped by the florist's to order a bouquet of his wife's favorite flower: white anemones. Unfortunately, the florist was sold out of flowers and had only a few stems of feathery ferns. The man asked the florist to make a bouquet out of the ferns and the flask of liquor. He added a card and proceeded home.

After a romantic candlelight dinner, he presented his wife with the gift. She opened the card and read: "Absinthe makes the heart grow fonder." With a tear in her eye, she whispered to him, "Yes, and with ferns like these, who needs anemones."

...I was ten feet tall and bullet-proof. I was good looking and smart and could hold a conversation! And, I was popular... Cheers had it right, sometimes you really do want to go where everybody knows your name, and our troubles are all the same. For many years I sat on a bar stool. My drink of choice was always waiting for me when I walked in, I may as well have been named Norm. I was surrounded by all of these like-minded people that had the same interests and problems as me. The bar scene and friends were eventually traded in for isolation and bottom shelf turpentine. When I couldn't eat or stand up or pay my bills or go to work anymore I went to asylums... or treatment centers to get "better." 6 times I went with the intention to get healthy and have another go at controlled drinking and 5 of those were unsuccessful (the controlled drinking that is.) I am proud Chapter 3 was written about me! It wasn't until I finally surrendered and got to work that I was finally free from the bondage of this disease.

...program had always been my last resort, the last house on the block, I would say. Speaking personally, putting it first is actually the easier, softer. Today, A.A. is my first priority and it gives me so much happiness, but I have to put a little bit of work into it everyday for it to work.

I would posit this: perhaps the Cheers theme is really about A.A.: I wanna be where I can see, our troubles are all the same. I wanna be where everybody knows my name! I want to be right here, I want to be in Alcoholics Anonymous!

...excited to serve in this position! If anyone has any questions, comments, stories, artwork or poetry, don't hesitate to drop a line at lifeline@saltlakeaa.org

Thank you for letting me be of service!

or your trying to hide
addictions' the devil
once you start, it's a difficult thing to stop smoking it, eating it, drinking it or even putting it in a shot
it's made me lose things
this she didn't care
the harder I got into it
the harder it was to bear
This has been my life
