When I came into AA I was very confused. None of the strategies I'd relied on to cope with life were working anymore. My drinking was out of control of course, but I found that my emotions were also out of control and my thoughts were no longer my own.

Everything in my life seemed unmanageable, and I was as confused and miserable as I could imagine. I had reached that state of "pitiful and incomprehensible demoralization" that I would later encounter in Chapter Three "More About Alcoholism" in the Big Book.

At one of those early meetings I met a man who claimed to be "a happy alcoholic." He said he was grateful to be an alcoholic because it led him into our Fellowship and eventually, to his spiritual awakening.

To my newcomer's ears this sounded totally crazy. I was definitely not happy about being an alcoholic, and I wasn't feeling gratitude about anything related to my problems. But something about the look in that happy alcoholic's eyes made me want whatever he had.

I approached him after the meeting and told him how I was feeling. He said, "If you're confused, that's a good sign, it's a step in the process toward recovery."

I would like to say that I instantly understood what he meant, but I didn't. His remark just confirmed to me that he was either crazy or lying. Nevertheless, I took his advice to "keep coming back." Eventually, as I found a sponsor and worked through the Steps, I began to understand what he was talking about.

Now, more than four years later, I can agree completely with my Happy Alcoholic friend, and I feel grateful for my confusion of those days.

Today I see how my complete confusion was necessary for me to let go of my old ways of thinking and open my mind to the possibility of recovery. I understand that my confusion was the beginning of my awakening in disguise.

PAMPHLET OF THE MONTH

Understanding Anonymity

"Anonymity is the spiritual foundation of all our traditions, ever reminding us to place principles before personalities."

This is A.A. General Service Conference-approved literature.

The Spiritual Significance of Anonymity

Back in 1948 Bill W., our co-founder, wrote: " One may say that anonymity is the spiritual base, the sure key to the rest of our Traditions. It has come to stand for prudence and, most importantly, for self-effacement. True consideration for the newcomer if he desires to be nameless; vital protection against misuse of the name Alcoholics Anonymous at the public level; and to each of us a constant reminder that principles come before personal interest. Such is the wide scope of this all-embracing principle. In it we see the cornerstone of our security as a movement; at a deeper spiritual level it points us to still greater self-renunciation"

JOKE OF THE MONTH

A drunk guy in Alaska decides to go ice fishing. So he packs up his stuff and goes out onto the ice. He starts sawing a hole in the ice, and a loud booming voice says, "YOU WILL FIND NO FISH

UNDER THAT ICE!" The drunk looks up, ignores it, and continues on. The voice repeats, "YOU WILL FIND NO FISH UNDER THE ICE."

The drunk looks up and says, God? " Is God trying to warn me?"

The voice says, "NO, I'M THE MANAGER OF THIS ICE RINK."

STEPS SIX AND SEVEN: A GOOD START

After relating Step Four information with my sponsor, I had a much better understanding of my defects and shortcomings.

I began to realize what aspects had been blocking me from sobriety for all those years. "Quitting forever" just landed me back in the drunk tank!

Steps Four and Five afforded a much better understanding of the "bondage of self" I had asked to be removed in Step Three.

There they were—but was I willing to ask God to remove them? Well, for me that was a no-brainer because I was rightfully terrified.

Just two weeks before I had marched into a bar room with gin and tonic on my lips. Thank God I didn't order but I was terrified!

Yes, I was willing to ask God to remove whatever my sponsor suggested! I haven't been tossed into a drunk tank since. My sponsor followed the "AA 12-Step timetable" which allowed no time to think it over.

Too much time may have diminished my fear of drinking along with my Six Step willingness! The Big Book tells us to do Step Four at once, Step Five at first opportunity and Step Six "then" (Not later).

The Big Book tells us to pray Step Seven "when ready" and of course I was. Although I had learned a good bit about my bondage of self, I still asked God to take away what was not useful to Him and my fellows.

The Big Book Page 77 tells us: "Our real purpose is to is to "fit ourselves to be of maximum service to God and the people about us."

This quest was/is for me certainly progress, not perfection. As my sobriety continues, I will always be grateful to Steps Six and Seven for getting me off to a good start.

– Bob S.

CONTINUAL GROWTH

Humans, like trees, are afforded forgiveness with the change of each season.

From the leaves that fall every winter.

The mistakes made, lessons learned the hard way, goals not accomplished, actions that cannot be undone, words spoken and remain with regret.

All to fall, untethered, unattached, caught by the wind, blown into the past and nevermore.

To rest, stay still, to feel bare, to heal, and to begin again.

Blossoming into bigger, brand new, brighter, vibrant version of ourselves to once again be weathered, toughened, and taught until the season again sends us into our next renewal.

Once all seasons have ceased, we stand as big, bare, bold versions of the best we had once been.

The legacy left but a whisper of what we had become.

Through all those beautiful seasons of growth but a story left for our loved ones to carry on.

Grow on my fellow warriors, our seasons have not ceased.

Our Common Welfare

Each member of Alcoholics Anonymous is but a small part of a great whole. A.A. must continue to live or most of us will surely die. Hence our common welfare comes first. But individual welfare follows close afterward.

Tradition One. (Long Form)

It is hoped that our common suffering as alcoholics and our common solution in A.A. will transcend most issues and curtail negative behaviors that could jeopardize the safety of anyone attending an A.A. meeting. Nevertheless, Alcoholics Anonymous is a microcosm of the larger society we exist in. As such, problems found in the outside world can also make their way into the rooms of A.A. For this reason, groups and members discuss the topic of safety – to raise awareness in the Fellowship and to seek through sponsorship, workshops and meeting, to create as safe an environment as possible to carry A.A.'s message of hope and recovery to the still-suffering alcoholic.

CELEBRATION BECAME RELAPSE

Losing control and hold on
My original and better self
Living deep in denial
I no longer knew myself
After abandoning the steps
And the Traditions
A decision of my own volition
An attraction became distraction
Boredom, depression and the blues were the enticements to abuse
And engage in a celebratory vacation
And lubricate with libations
Embarking upon this social cruise
Only the best booze I did consume
Soon after binging with spirits
Impinging to raise the spirit
Libations fouled my spirit
I hadn't the courage to protest
And confront the source of my soul's unrest
And each day with a promise
I confessed to try sobriety again
And eliminate the torture of stress
Cruising, binging and impinging
upon the principles of sobriety
Delirium Tremens followed

DAs the spirits of the bottle
whispered, hissed, yelled, and hollered
Calling my name - calling me names
Encouraging my surging thirst
Re-urging the social curse
A double libation made life worse
Belligerent rebuking Demons surfaced from within
Assuring that they were friends
And all would be alright
That this was celebration's last night
only one more double for the nights
would take the edge off fright
The Demons saying while preying
This will surely cure your boredom
And offer adventure and excitement
for only you can accept and participate
In such pleasant enticement
After all you've created a totally Unnecessary caustic-toxic creation
As libations aren't necessary for Celebration:
Celebrate sobriety!

The Seventh Tradition

"Every A.A. group ought to be fully self-supporting, declining outside contributions."

While contributions cover each group's rent and other expenses, the Seventh Tradition is essential at every level of A.A. service.

It is both a privilege and a responsibility for groups and members to ensure that not only their group, but also their intergroup/central office, local services, district, area, and the General Service Office remain self-supporting.

This keeps A.A. free of outside influences that might divert us from our primary purpose - to help the alcoholic who still suffers.

Although the amount of our contribution is secondary to the spiritual connection that unites all groups around the world, we may want to remember that a dollar does not support as many services as it used to.

Some facts:

Currently about 40% of groups contribute to the General Service Office.

Costs of Services provided by G.S.O (as of 2016) are approximately $7.15 per member per year.

Gross profit from A.A. literature sales account for over 50% of G.S.O.'s income.

Your contributions help ensure the future of our Fellowship worldwide.

Personal thoughts:

What is the value of your sobriety?

Does your group know that contributions may be made online at AA.org?

Gratitude, expressed through contributions, reaches the still-suffering alcoholic.
